JAL and Malaysia Airlines Begin Codeshare Partnership from July 2012

TOKYO June 11, 2012: Japan Airlines (JAL) and Malaysia Airlines (MH) today announced the expansion of their respective networks through a new codeshare agreement between the member and member-elect of the quality airline alliance, oneworld®, beginning July 1, 2012.

JAL will begin marketing MH-operated flights between Kuala Lumpur and Japan, as well as five other Malaysia domestic points and seven regional destinations such as Bangalore, Chennai, Hyderabad and Mumbai. Conversely, MH will place its flight indicator on JL-operated flights connecting Tokyo (Narita) to Fukuoka, Nagoya and Sapporo in Japan, and to nine international cities including Asian powerhouses like Hong Kong, Taipei and Seoul, resort destinations like Guam and Honolulu, and across the Pacific to Boston, Chicago and New York.

Reservations and sales of the new MH and JL-coded flights will begin tomorrow, June 12, 2012.

"Japan Airlines is pleased to begin this codeshare arrangement with Malaysia Airlines as members of the alliance gear up to welcome it into the oneworld family" said Masaru Onishi, Chairman of Japan Airlines. "We are looking forward to strengthening JAL's and oneworld's Asian network with them, especially in South East Asia, so as to provide customers with a more connected, comprehensive network and quality service in a region of growth."

"Malaysia Airlines is excited to be able to partner with JAL in a code share that gives us an excellent opportunity to expand Malaysia Airlines reach without having to mount our own flights to cities in Japan and beyond in North Asia and the US," said Malaysia Airlines Group CEO, Ahmad Jauhari Yahya. "This code share between Malaysia Airlines and JAL is also an important first step towards strengthening our relations with partner airlines in the oneworld alliance and we hope to enter more code share relationships with other oneworld partners progressively in the coming months, which will also contribute towards greater connectivity for the alliance."

About Japan Airlines

Headquartered in Tokyo, Japan, JAL has an international network reaching more than 221 airports in 40 countries and regions together with its codeshare partners while covering over 50 airports throughout Japan. With a fleet of more than 200 aircraft including the revolutionary 787 Dreamliner, it operates from main hubs Narita and Haneda in Tokyo, with extensive connection to major Asian destinations as well as to San Francisco, Los Angeles, Chicago, New York City and Boston the continental U.S, and Europe. It will soon launch the first direct link between San Diego and Asia later this year and a new nonstop service between Helsinki and Tokyo (Narita) in March 2013. Its frequent flyer program, JAL Mileage Bank (JMB), is one of the world's largest loyalty programs, with over 24 million members worldwide today. The airline was recognized for being the most punctual major global airline in 2009 and 2010.

About Malaysia Airlines

Malaysia Airlines (http://www.malaysiaairlines.com), the national carrier of Malaysia and one of Asia's largest, flies nearly 40,000 passengers daily to some 80 destinations worldwide across 4 continents. Its distinctive Malaysia Airlines brand is an extension of the special culture of warmth and friendliness unique to Malaysians. It has embarked on an extensive fleet upgrading exercise since 2010 involving the introduction of 45 Boeing 737-800, 15 Airbus A330-300 and six Airbus A380-800 aircraft in its fleet. The A380 operations that will commence effective 1 July 2012 also signifies Malaysia Airlines' strong desire to maintain its position as a premier brand with state-of-the-art products and services.

Both Malaysia Airlines and its Kuala Lumpur hub are among the industry's most frequent winners of awards for quality service. Malaysia Airlines itself has won the World's Best Cabin Crew title from the Skytrax airline quality rating agency in six of the past 10 years. In the latest (2011) World Travel Awards, UK it was named World's Leading Airline to Asia for the second year running.
